III. INHERENT RISKS ASSOCIATED WITH GROUP AND DOG ACTIVITIES

Dog activities are intended to provide a fun and rewarding experience for a dog and its owner. However, despite careful and proper preparation, instruction, medical advice, conditioning, and equipment, you agree and understand that there are inherent risks when dealing with animals and humans in group situations. Understandably, not all hazards and dangers associated with dog activities can be foreseen. You agree and understand that unleashing your dog(s) and being physically present at a dog park area involves risks of injury to you, any individual accompanying you, other people, your dog(s), other dog(s), your property, and other property, including but not limited to, risks resulting from aggressive dogs, unpredictable behavior, and lack of training.

Inherent risks include problems associated with rough play, such as bite wounds and scratches, the aggravation of existing medical conditions, and in rare instances death. Inherent risks include the propensity of any dog to behave in dangerous ways that may result in serious injury, including death, to you, other people, your dog(s), other dogs or other animals. Dogs are pack animals and when "off lead" even the best-trained dogs will act instinctively. Should an owner attempt to break up a dogfight or restrain a dog, including but not limited to your dog, an owner may be attacked and severely mauled by your dog or another dog, or attacked by another dog's owner. In this regard, it must be recognized that it is impossible for the park to guarantee absolute safety.

Dogs and owners of varying degrees of skill, training, and experience use this facility. Additional risks include, but are not limited to: the inexperience, negligence or irresponsibility of a dog owner; the inability to predict a dog's reaction to sound, movements, objects, persons, or other animals; and actions by the dog due to fright, anger, stress, insect bites, or natural reactions such as jumping, pulling, resisting, dog fights, dog bites; theft or unlawful capture; being knocked-down, chased or tripped by a dog; escape over or under fences; vegetation or standing water that may be unhealthy or poisonous if consumed; burrs or seeds that may become lodged in the dogs coat, feet, eyes, nose or ears; mosquitoes, ticks, chiggers, fleas and other insects; and wildlife typically found in a rural setting such as snakes, woodchucks, raccoons, opossums, skunks, coyotes, foxes, deer, hawks and the like.

Other risks include the hazards associated with environmental and traffic, vehicular conditions, acts of God, inclement weather, slip and falls, premises defects, golf balls or other objects, equipment failure, failure in instruction/supervision, and all other circumstances inherent to dog and/or indoor/outdoor activities.

There is a greater potential for harm to small dogs that play in the other park areas and it is recommended that off-leash small dogs and puppies play in the small dog area only; and use of the Howlabaloo Dog Park is self-directed and you are not always directly supervised by park staff.

You understand and agree that under no circumstances shall Howlabaloo Dog Park be responsible for illness, injury, or death including aggravation of existing injuries or conditions to dogs participating in group activities including training/coaching classes and dog park usage. You consent to your dog's participation in group activities, acknowledge the foregoing risks and limitations on liability and, if your dog is female, certify to Howlabaloo Dog Park that such dog is not in season and is not expected to come into season while at Howlabaloo Dog Park.

You further assume all risks associated with using Howlabaloo Dog Park, including grounds, fixtures and equipment, in a self-directed manner. You are solely responsible for supervising your dog(s) and determining whether or not this is an appropriate activity to participate in. You understand that you, and any individual who accompanies you, are participating in this activity at your and their risk and risk of your dog(s).

You are solely responsible for determining if you and/or your dog(s) are physically fit and/or adequately skilled to use this facility. It is always advisable, especially if you or your dog is pregnant, disabled in any way, or recently suffered an illness, injury, or impairment, to consult a physician or veterinarian before undertaking any dog training/coaching or exercise activity.

IV. VACCINATION POLICY AND HEALTHY DOG ASSURANCE

Howlabaloo Dog Park does not guarantee that dogs in the park are healthy. To prevent the spread of disease while your dog is at Howlabaloo Dog Park, dogs must be current on rabies, bordetella and distemper vaccinations, and have a negative fecal float. It is your responsibility to provide proof of vaccination history and a fecal record for each animal that you bring to the park. Despite the efforts of Howlabaloo Dog Park to ensure owners have complied, there is a risk that not all dogs present in the dog park are or can be vaccinated which could result in disease to a human or dog. Some dogs may have reactions to vaccines. If so, written veterinarian verification must be presented and entry will be considered on a per dog basis. You further understand that even if a dog is vaccinated against kennel cough or other illnesses, it is possible that a dog may contract kennel cough or another illness. You specifically agree that Howlabaloo Dog Park shall in no way be responsible for death or disease should your dog contract kennel cough or another illness while at the Park. If your dog is found to have any external or internal parasites or other communicable disease, it will not be allowed entry into Howlabaloo Dog Park.

Please initial to acknowledge your understanding of the foregoing: _____ (owner initials) _____ (co-owner initials)

Rates are subject to change without prior notice. If any fees or expenses payable by you are not paid, Howlabaloo Dog Park reserves the right to exercise any and all remedies available to it by law or in equity, including, without limitation in accordance with applicable law.
